SERVIANS VICTIMS OF RACIAL HATRED

Assassination of Archduke Excites Hatred Toward Servians in Bosnia and Herzegovina and Violence Results.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Sarajevo, June 30.—All Bosnia and Herzegovina are today aflame with hatred kindled by the assassination of Archduke Francis Ferdinand, heir to the Austrian throne, and his consort, the Duchess of Hohenberg, by a young Slav in this city on Sunday.

In spite of the declaration of martial law, there was fierce rioting in this and other cities throughout the two provinces.

At Mostar, the chief city of Herzegovina, 200 Servians were killed and wounded in a fight with Moslems. The city is reported to have been set on fire by the rioting Servians and Moslems.

While preparations were being made here to ship the bodies of the two victims of Sunday's double assassination to Vienna, a mad crowd attacked and wrecked the homes of three Servians in which bombs had been found.

The military police fired upon the mobs but the infuriated men and women turned upon the gendarmes and drove them off, then continued their assault upon the buildings. Three Servians were caught and would have been lynched in the streets except for the soldiery, who, upon being reinforced, returned to the scene and with fixed bayonets charged the rioters.

Servian shops and hotels were stoned and the windows smashed. Servian flags were torn down and trampled in the streets. Mobs made up of both men and women paraded the streets shouting: "Death to the Servians."

"Down with the throwers of Belgrade bombs."

The Palace of the Metropolitan was stoned and artillery has been placed before public buildings.

Many Servians and native Bosnians are fleeing across the Danube. At Novesinje crowds of Mohammedans, Croats and Servians engaged in a fight which wrecked part of the city.

A Servian was shot and killed in this city and while his body lay in the street it was stoned.

All the bitterness of racial hatred has been loosened and in many quarters a state of absolute anarchy prevails. The government is proceeding with caution, fearing that a false step may precipitate a widespread uprising.

Some of the newspapers throughout Bosnia have been suppressed because of their inflammatory utterances.

The Burzomaster received a dispatch from Mostar saying that an attempt had been made to wreck the bridge at that city, one of the most famous structures in southeastern Europe. This bridge rests above the Neretva river and a single span is 5 feet long. Some say that it was built in the days of Roman supremacy.

Nedello Cabrinitch, who made the first attempt upon the lives of Archduke Francis Ferdinand and his morganatic wife on Sunday, by throwing a bomb, was questioned by the magistrate in the court of first instance today.

The prisoner was sullen and defiant. He admitted that the plot against the Austrian heir had been hatched in Belgrade, but he refused to give the names of those who formed the conspiracy. His utterances, however, indicated that some one high in authority in the Servian capital had given the order for the death of the Archduke.

Gavrio Prinzip, the actual assassin, asked for the newspapers today and boasted in the notoriety which his deed had brought upon himself. He is being closely guarded to prevent his committing suicide as he realizes that death will be his portion.

The police hope to extract valuable information from him and for the second time he spent most of the night under the merciless grilling of the authorities.

I have a long range of vision and can pick out just the home your household wants for the summer season—and the rent will be right.

UNION BOAT CLUB HAS FIRST WORKOUT FOR ENGLISH HENLEY.

Henley, England, June 30.—The eight-oared crew of the Union Boat Club of Boston, which is to compete in the Henley Regatta, had its first practice workout on English waters Saturday. The crew will be coached by Rudolph C. Lehman, the well-known oarsman and rowing expert, if his services can be secured. The Henley match will be held July 1, on the Thames.

INVESTIGATIONS COME IN SWARMS

Investigators and Inspectors Whose Orders Conflict and Whom it is Impossible to Obey Annoy the Manufacturers.

Before the state factory investigating commission sining in New York city, L. B. Prayer, a Brooklyn manufacturer, testified that he did not erect a platform on the roof of his building as ordered by the state labor department, although that order had been countermanded by the city fire department.

He said that the orders of the state labor inspectors and Agents of the city had cost him $15,000 in two years and added: "Why, I have had so much inspection that it has actually made me sick. An inspector of the state labor department has told me to do one thing, and when I have complied with his order, another inspector of one of the city departments has told me to do it all over. If they issue any more orders I'll simply turn over the whole building to them and quit."

The experienced state labor inspector, who was called to the stand, testified that he is that he has been able to bring his plight to public attention through one of the numerous investigating bodies responsible for the conditions he describes.

Since the election of Governor Dix nearly a million dollars has been appropriated for investigations of one kind or another and these investigations have been followed by the enactment of new laws and the amendment of old laws with resulting conflicts of authority in practically every line of state activity.

In 1911, 1912 and 1913, twenty-five separate investigations were provided for. The factory investigation commission rewrote the entire labor law and enormously amplified the labor department.

An investigation of health conditions in the state lasting less than a month resulted in a new health law and the reorganization of the health department with nine bureaus, a state health council and twenty sanitary districts and brought the health department into conflict with the state education department in health inspections of schools.

A purely partisan investigation of the state prison resulted in turning out of office competent officials and the beginning of a reign of disorder—but it made a lot of jobs.

There have been two investigations of the state hospitals and, as investigation went widely, a third investigation will be necessary to clarify a very muddled situation.

There was a general investigation of the state departments with a lot of subsequent legislation by the committee of inquiry and within three months there was another general investigation of the state departments by the Frawley committee to dig up evidence against Governor Sulzer.

Telegraph and telephone rates are still being investigated. The port of New York was investigated at a cost of $30,500.

Fifteen thousand dollars was spent to investigate the cost of foodstuffs, but to what end nobody has discovered.

Ten thousand has been spent to investigate the operation of the barge canal.

Fifteen thousand dollars has been spent to investigate the subject of pensions for widowed mothers.

Five thousand has gone to investigate diseases of hops.

Five thousand has gone to investigate the pollution of the waters of the Bronx.

The state fire marshal has had $15,000, in addition to a large payroll appropriation, for general investigations.

The commissioner of efficiency and economy has had $25,000 to investigate the subject of free text books.

Thirty-five thousand has been appropriated to investigate foods, fertilizers, etc., $24,000 to investigate soils and plant nutrition, $7,500 to investigate grape culture and $5,000 to investigate farm land owned by the state.

Every one of these numerous investigations for which special appropriations have been made falls within the scope of some regularly established state department and within the line of its ordinary duty. Had they been so conducted a great deal of money would have been saved and a

ROOSEVELT TO SOUND KEYNOTE

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, June 30.—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt left for Pittsburgh today to make his first important political speech since his return from the South American jungles. He left the Pennsylvania station at 8 o'clock accompanied by his son, Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., but the latter said he was going only as far as Philadelphia with his father.

The Colonel motored in from New York accompanied by his political secretary, John McGraw. Before boarding his train some one remarked:

"You look pretty good, Colonel, for a man who has been ordered to take a rest."

"Yes, I'm still worth half a dozen dead men," replied he.

"In fact," he added with a smile "I might say that I feel bully."

The Colonel refused to discuss politics, but said that he might have something to say upon his return.

Colonel Roosevelt is expected to open an attack upon the Penrose faction of the Republican party and upon the Wilson administration in his speech in Pittsburgh tonight. He will sound the keynote of the Progressive campaign this summer and coming fall.

The former president is due in Pittsburgh about 7 o'clock. He will attend a Progressive dinner and then go to Exposition Hall where his speech will be delivered. All night he will start back to New York reaching here about 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. He will hold a conference with Progressive leaders in this city tomorrow and consult a throat specialist.

Sunday School Convention Closing.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Chicago, June 30.—Consideration of reports and other routine business marked today's session of the International Sunday school convention which will close tonight.

Resolutions favoring a federal law for the regulation of marriage and divorce, a single standard of purity for both sexes, rigid laws against commercialized vice, lotteries and gambling, the censoring of child labor pictures, abolition of child labor, abolition of the liquor traffic, advancement of international peace and the observance of the Sabbath were adopted by the delegates.

Steamer Ramsdell Disabled.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

While making a landing in the creek on Saturday night the steamer Homer Ramsdell of the Central Hudson line struck a submerged object, probably a log, and broke one of the flukes on the propeller.

The vessel was able to make the landing safely after the mishap and went down the river under her own steam. Monday she was drydocked at Tietjen & Lang's shipyard at Hoboken, where necessary repairs will be made. The Homer was placed on the route in the Ramsdell's place.

Killed at a Crossing.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

His view obstructed by a long line of box cars on a siding, Stephen Van Vlack, aged 20, of Hopewell Junction, was almost instantly killed at that village on Monday morning, when the team which he was driving was struck by a south bound passenger train on the Central New England railroad on the crossing at that place.

In the wagon with Van Vlack at the time was J. G. Adams, who escaped without a scratch. One horse was killed but his team mate escaped uninjured.

SERVIANS VICTIMS OF RACIAL HATRED

Assassination of Archduke Excites Hatred Toward Servians in Bosnia and Herzegovina and Violence Results.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Sarajevo, June 30.—All Bosnia and Herzegovina are today aflame with hatred kindled by the assassination of Archduke Francis Ferdinand, heir to the Austrian throne, and his consort, the Duchess of Hohenberg, by a young Slav in this city on Sunday.

In spite of the declaration of martial law, there was fierce rioting in this and other cities throughout the two provinces.

At Mostar, the chief city of Herzegovina, 200 Servians were killed and wounded in a fight with Moslems.

The city is reported to have been set on fire by the rioting Servians and Moslems.

While preparations were being made here to ship the bodies of the two victims of Sunday's double assassination to Vienna, a maddened crowd attacked and wrecked the homes of three Servians in which bombs had been found.

The military police fired upon the mobs but the infuriated men and women turned upon the gendarmes and drove them off, then continued their assault upon the buildings.

Three Servians were caught and would have been lynched in the streets except for the soldiery, who upon being reinforced, returned to the scene and with fixed bayonets charged the rioters.

Servian shops and hotels were stoned and the windows smashed. Servian flags were torn down and trampled in the streets. Mobs made up of both men and women paraded the streets shouting:

"Death to the Servians."

"Down with the throwers of Belgrade bombs."

The Palace of the Metropolitan was stoned and artillery has been placed before public buildings.

Many Servians and native Bosnians are fleeing across the Danube.

At Nevesinje crowds of Mohammedans, Croats and Servians engaged in a fight which wrecked part of the city.

A Servian was shot and killed in this city and while his body lay in the street it was stoned.

All the bitterness of racial hatred has been loosened and in many quarters a state of absolute anarchy prevails.

The government is proceeding with caution, fearing that a false step may precipitate a widespread uprising.

Some of the newspapers throughout Bosnia have been suppressed because of their inflammatory utterances.

The Burgomaster received a dispatch from Mostar saying that an attempt had been made to wreck the bridge at that city, one of the most famous structures in southeastern Europe.

This bridge rests above the Neretva river and a single span is 5 feet long. Some say that it was built in the days of Roman supremacy.

Nedeljo Cabrinovich, who made the first attempt upon the lives of Archduke Francis Ferdinand and his morganatic wife on Sunday, by throwing a bomb, was questioned by the magistrate in the court of first instance today.

The prisoner was sullen and defiant. He admitted that the plot against the Austrian heir had been hatched in Belgrade, but he refused to give the names of those who formed the conspiracy. His utterances, however, indicated that some one high in authority in the Servian capital had given the order for the death of the Archduke.

Gavrio Princip, the actual assassin, ask 1 for the newspapers today and gloated in the notoriety which his deed had brought upon himself. He is being closely guarded to prevent his committing suicide as he realizes that death will be his portion.

The police hope to extract valuable information from him and for the second time he spent most of the night under the merciless grilling of the authorities.

I have a long range of vision and can pick out just the home your household wants for the summer season—and the rent will be right.

UNION BOAT CLUB HAS FIRST WORKOUT FOR ENGLISH HENLEY.

Henley, England, June 30.—The eight-oared crew of the Union Boat Club of Boston, which is to compete in the Henley Regatta, had its first practice workout on English waters Saturday. The crew will be coached by Rudolph C. Lehman, the well-known oarsman and rowing expert, if his services can be secured. The Henley match will be held July 1, on the Thames.

INVESTIGATIONS COME IN SWARMS

Investigators and Inspectors Whose Orders Conflict and Whom it is Impossible to Obey Annoy the Manufacturers.

Before the state factory investigating commission sitting in New York city, L. B. Prayer, a Brooklyn manufacturer, testified that he was under $200 bail because he did not erect a platform on the roof of his building as ordered by the state labor department, although that order had been countermanded by the city fire department.

He said that the orders of the state labor inspectors and Agents of the city had cost him $15,000 in two years and added: "Why, I have had so much inspection that it has actually made me sick. An inspector of the state labor department has told me to do one thing, and when I have complied with his order another inspector has told me to do it all over. If they issue any more orders I'll simply turn over the whole building to them and quit."

The experiences of Mr. Prayer are not exceptional. The exacting nature of it is that he has been able to bring his plight to public attention through one of the numerous investigators, bodies responsible for the conditions he describes.

Since the election of Governor Dix nearly a million dollars has been appropriated for investigations of one kind or another and these investigations have been followed by the enactment of new laws and the amendment of old laws with resulting conflicts of authority in practically every line of state activity.

In 1911, 1912 and 1913, twenty-six separate investigations were provided for.

The factory investigation commission rewrote the entire labor law and enormously amplified the labor department.

An investigation of health conditions in the state lasting less than a month resulted in a new health law and the reorganization of the health department with nine bureaus, a state health council and twenty sanitary districts and brought the health department into conflict with the inspections of schools.

A purely partisan investigation of the state prison resulted in turning out of office competent officials and the beginning of a reign of disorder—but it made a lot of jobs.

There have been two investigations of the state hospitals and, as their findings vary widely, a third investigation will be necessary to clarify a very muddled situation.

There was a general investigation of the state departments with a lot of subsequent legislation, by the committee of inquiry and within three months there was another general investigation of the state departments by the Fraxley committee to dig up evidence against Governor Sulzer.

Telegraph and telephone rates are still being investigated.

The port of New York was investigated at a cost of $30,500.

Fifteen thousand dollars was spent to investigate the cost of foodstuffs, but to what end nobody has discovered.

Ten thousand has been spent to investigate the operation of the barge canal.

Fifteen thousand dollars has been spent to investigate the subject of pensions for widowed mothers.

Five thousand has gone to investigate diseases of hops.

Five thousand has gone to investigate the pollution of the waters of the Bronx.

The state fire marshal has had $15,000, in addition to a large pay-roll appropriation, for general investigations.

The commissioner of efficiency and economy has had $25,000 to investigate the subject of free text books.

Thirty-five thousand has been appropriated to investigate foods, fertilizers, etc., $24,000 to investigate soils and plant nutrition, $7,500 to investigate grape culture and $5,000 to investigate farm land owned by the state.

Every one of these numerous investigations for which special appropriations have been made falls within the scope of some regularly established state department and within the line of its ordinary duty. Had they been so conducted a great deal of money would have been saved and a

VILLA'S ARMY OUT ON A STRIKE

Will Not Take the Field Again Until a Satisfactory Understanding is Had With Carranza, Nominal Head of the Rebels.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Torreon, Mexico, June 30.—The fate of the Constitutional party will probably depend upon the forthcoming conference of General Francisco Villa and General Carranza, the first chief of the Constitutional party, it was openly predicted here today.

General Villa, who has returned here from Zacatecas, accompanied by his chief of artillery, General Felipe Angeles, and about 2,000 troops, intimated today that he would not take the field again until he arrived at a satisfactory understanding with Carranza.

General Villa is guarded in all his utterances relative to General Carranza but it is plain to be seen that he thinks he has not been treated right, and it hurts deeply.

"I expect to meet General Carranza either on Friday or Saturday," he said.

Asked the object of the conference the rebel general replied: "It is to discuss future plans of high importance. The campaign and certain policies of the Constitutional government will be under discussion."

"Is it true that you have delivered an ultimatum to General Carranza?" was asked.

"General Carranza and I are in thorough accord so far," replied Villa.

A number of Constitutional generals are said to have pledged their support to Villa in the event of an open breach between the first chief and his brilliant commander.

MATTERS BEFORE THE SURROGATE

James V. Rich left his home and family in Westchester county thirty years ago and after residing for a time in Philadelphia, he disappeared entirely and since then his family have had no tidings of him. If he is alive, he is upwards of 75 years of age, but his children believe that he is dead. They have therefore petitioned Surrogate Gill that letters of administration on his estate be issued to them, and the surrogate has directed that letters be so issued upon their filing the oath required and upon their filing a bond. The estate consists of a deposit with the county treasurer credited to Mr. Rich. The money was deposited by order of the surrogate's court in 1894, when a judicial settlement of the estate of Clarissa Woolsey was had, and the amount then deposited was $536.66. The children making the petition are C. Clayton Rich, James W. Rich, Adeline L. Frankenberg and Eleanor M. Holman, all of whom reside at Mt. Vernon, N. Y. They were represented by Andrew Wright Lent of Highland.

The will of William C. Hedgesheimer of Ohioville was admitted to probate. The testator gives his estate to his wife, Louise B. Hedgesheimer, whom he appoints executrix. The will was executed March 19, 1909, and witnessed by John A. Walsh of Stamford, Conn., and George H. Hyde of New York city. The value of the estate is $18,500 personal property. George H. Hyde of New York city appeared for the executrix.

The will of Zachariah J. Freer, of the town of Lloyd, was admitted to probate. The testator makes bequests of $500 each to Robert D. Freer, a brother; and to his nephew and niece, Etta Palmer, Eva Traver, Mary Palen, Amelia Atkins, Rachel Van Wagoner, Sarah Dunn, George Freer, Carrie DuBois and Mabel Baker. To his sisters, Lavina Freer and Mary C. Freer, he gives his stock in the Highland National Bank and all monies deposited in the Ulster County Savings Institution. They are also given the life use of his real estate which at their death is given to his nephews, Harry DuBois and Henry DuBois, and to his niece, Caroline DuBois. The balance of the estate is given equally to the nephew and nieces who receive the $500 bequests. The two sisters are appointed executrices. The will was executed July 8, 1909, and witnessed by William D. Brinnier, Joseph M. Schaeffer and William D. Brinnier, Jr. The value of the estate is over $2,000 real estate and over $2,000 personal property. Brinnier & Canfield appeared for the executrices.

Letters of administration on the estate of August H. Wiedemann, Jr., of this city were issued to his widow, Minnie Wiedemann. The value of the estate is $800 real estate and $14,000 personal property. Andrew Lang appeared for the administrator.

The matter of the application of Henry B. Ingram as sole surviving executor of the estate of E. Henrietta Smith of this city, for the sale of real estate to pay debts, was adjourned to July 13. Judge Clearwater appeared for the administrator of Mr. Ingram's estate.

The matter of the estate of Catherine Ann West of this city, in which a petition for the payment of funeral expenses was filed by George L. Wachmeyer, was adjourned to July 13. Frederick Stephan, Jr., appeared for the petitioner.

After playing with school and semi-pro. teams in and around his native town, he made his professional debut with the New Bedford club of the New England league, in 1912. He played sensational ball from the start, and in mid-season he was purchased by the Boston National club. He joined the Boston team about September 1, 1912, and made good at once in all departments of the game, but particularly in accurate fielding and fast ground covering. In size he is not unlike Bush of the Detroit American team, and his playing so far in the major league reminds one very much of this famous Tiger. Maranville has the nickname of "Rabbit," derived from his wonderful speed and quick starts.

BOEHLING IS STAR TWIRLER

Washington Youngster Is Master of Change of Pace and Relies Very Much on Fast Ball.

Pitcher Joe Boehling of Washington is a master of the change of pace, but seems to rely most upon his fast ball, which appears to be very deceiving to the batter. He works in a graceful, easy way, conserving his energy, and will be good for many years.

Joe Boehling of Washington.

He is cool under fire, and is apparently not handicapped by his youth. Two years ago Griffith would have taken with thanks an offer of $3,000 for Boehling. Now he has refused an offer of $15,000.

American Association Record.

At Minneapolis on June 9, the Minneapolis and Louisville teams established a new American association record when they battled 20 innings, Minneapolis winning 3 to 2. Joe Lake pitched the whole game for the Millers. Grover Loudermilk pitched 12 for Louisville and struck out 15 men in that time. Toney finished the game for the Colonels. Minneapolis scored a run in the first and another in the second, but did not see the plate again until the twentieth. The previous long distance record in the association was 19 innings, made by Milwaukee and Columbus on July 10, 1913.

Novel Way of Punishing Players.

President Tener has hit upon a very sensible plan of hurting the feelings of ball players, and not injuring the ball teams that they play on, as has always been the case. He handed Heinie Zimmerman a fine of $25, instead of letting him lay off for three days, and causing the Cubs to lose a game or two as a result.

All-Round Star.

Lee Magee now has full claim to distinction as an all-round star, having played all the infield and outfield positions. Magee covered first base recently for the Cardinals, owing to an accident sustained by Jack Miller while sliding.

Kissinger Takes New Lease.

The veteran, Rube Kissinger, since joining New Orleans, seems to have taken on a new lease of life. He recently shut out Mobile quite handily.

"RABBIT" MARANVILLE IS SPEED MARVEL

Walter J. Maranville, Boston Shortstop.

Walter J. Maranville, the sensational young shortstop of the Boston National league team, is a native of Springfield, Mass., where he was born twenty-five years ago. After playing with school and semi-pro teams in and around his native town, he made his professional debut with the New Bedford club of the New England league, in 1912. He played sensational ball from the start, and in mid-season he was purchased by the Boston National club. STORIES OF THE DIAMOND

It is said that baseball has become a popular sport in Santo Domingo.

Why did the Federal league release Umpire Kane? Was it because he wasn't Abel?

Miller Huggins declares that Rube Marquard is an easy pitcher for the Cards to beat.

And among other things the Red Sox could use to good advantage a pinch-hitter with the punch.

The Red Sox needn't worry over the shortstop position. Everett Scott will fill in Heinie Wagner's shoes.

Hughey Jennings will throw an arm off or kick a leg off some day in the arduous of his calisthenic coaching.

Steve Evans of the Brooklyn Feds must have found a magic bat, for he is slamming the pill around unmercifully.

The Pittsburghers have won and lost their games in streaks this year. The Clarke men have not shown any consistency.

Miner Brown says: "Rome wasn't built in a day, so we still have a fair chance to cop the Federal league bunting."

Henry Billiard is a member of the Hoo-feds. But it's a cinch he wouldn't be if Muggsy McGraw had seen him first.

President Tener has instructed all clubs in the National league to employ a megaphone man to make announcements in the future.

Catcher Picardo, a swarthy-skinned athlete who reports that he is of Cuban extraction, is up for trial with the champion Giants.

Irving Kantielner, the new left-handed pitcher of the Pirates, is a big fellow of refinement who has made friends of every man on the club.

Pitcher Schneider, the Seattle hurler who was reported to have been signed by Joe Tinker for the Chifeds, has joined the Cincinnati Reds.

Fans of Utica, N. Y., honored George Burns, Giant outfielder, in the exhibition game by presenting him with a gold watch when he came to bat.

Walter Johnson was asked recently whether he'd ask for an umpiring job when he starts to slip. Walter said: "Nix; I'd rather go back to the old farm."

National league infielders will be prevented from taking their usual practise between innings as the result of an edict from President Tener, who is heading a crusade to shorten the games in his circuit. Pitchers may warm up, however.

KINGSTON, N. Y., JUNE 30, 1914.

THE NEW SANITARY CODE.

Several anonymous letters vehemently and rather incoherently denouncing the Board of Health for having enacted the new sanitary code have been received by The Freeman. As nearly as can be determined from these letters the writers object to those portions of the code that prohibit needless noise-making and needless exposure of food to contamination by flies and strolling dogs and cats. The code requires that food products, fruit, etc., shall be exposed only on a platform at least 30 inches above the floor or sidewalk and shall be screened. Only a person of the most reckless disregard for sanitation and ordinary cleanliness can fail to see the necessity of such precaution and only a dealer who delights in purveying filth to his customers will object to obeying the rule.

As to noises, the new code prohibits the needless ringing of gongs and blowing of whistles by milkmen, bakers, kindling wood peddlers, etc. There is a double reason why this prohibition should be in the code and be rigidly enforced. Not only is the noise annoying, but the multiplication of alarming sounds renders real and necessary alarms ineffective. In many towns the use of gongs except on fire apparatus and ambulances is prohibited and this rule should be enforced in Kingston. When everyone is permitted the use of an alarm the sound ceases to have the desired effect when used by the fireman or an ambulance driver. These should have a monopoly of the use of gongs, so that everybody who hears their alarm will know just what it means.

The plea that these noises are necessary to trade is nonsensical when one reflects that the city is the greater part of whose retail trade is to occasional customers, have never had to resort to gongs or whistles to notify patrons of their coming. A small signal card displayed by the customer silently does the work. Patrons of bakers, woodmen, etc., would gladly avail themselves of the same system if it were offered to them.

There is no reason why life should be made burdensome for thousands in order to satisfy the love for making a noise that a few men possess. The board of health is to be commended for its action and unless the new code is made effective and enforced those responsible will hear from the people of the city. Nobody excepting those whose disregard for the public good is to be restrained has found any fault and the very fact that such persons object is the best argument that can be advanced in favor of the new code.

"It is a common thing to see apples and bananas displayed for sale on stands or in stores, with 10 cents asked for the apple and three fine bananas offered for five cents. The apple grew a few miles away and the bananas came from Panama." This quotation is from a book by Frederick Upham Adams entitled "Conquest of the Tropics." It is perfectly true. The explanation is a queer one. The bananas are brought here by the United Fruit Company, which is popularly regarded as a "wicked trust," while there is no apple trust, wicked or otherwise. If there were such an organization, the consumer would be able to get apples at a reasonable price at all seasons of the year, and they would not contain wormholes or rotten spots. "But," asks Mr. Adams, "would its officials be hailed as benefactors or would they be sent to jail?" By the way, will some one name any article the price of which has been raised by a trust or which declined when the trust was dissolved?

Reports regarding business conditions are so frequently colored by the political prejudices of the persons who make them that particular interest attaches itself to the result of a "survey" made by the Rochester Chamber of Commerce. Statistics were obtained from twenty-five of the most important, and representative employing concerns in the city. It appears that three firms out of this number have not felt any business depression and have actually increased the number of their employees by a total of 165. Eight firms have felt the depression, but have not as yet been compelled to discharge any men. The other fourteen have been forced to curtail operations, with the net result that 1,100 out of 5,600 employees are out of work. There is no possibility of explaining this through psychology. We don't believe any firm ever laid off its employees when it could make a profit by keeping them at work.

THE LATEST ROYAL TRAGEDY.

(By Our Woman Editor.)

Looking at the pictured family group, showing the ill-fated Archduke Francis Ferdinand and his wife, the Duchess of Hohenberg, and their three children, orphaned so soon, one glances long upon the beautiful face of the Duchess, only to ask:

Would she, at least, have been permitted to go on living for herself and the children had she been content to remain in the background, accepting only the honors and deference that came her way?

It is said that she inwardly chafed at her status as morganatic wife, and sometimes openly rebelled, to the point of fighting for the deference she thought should be hers, in spite of the pledge made by her royal husband. According to the terms of the pledge, she might never hope to be Empress of Austria nor might he dream of elevating her to that high estate, but the signs were many that the Archduke and his wife were permitting their hopes to outride the old pledge.

The Archduke sacrificed much to make the beautiful lady-in-waiting his wife, and evidently loved her very truly when he was willing to bid defiance to the Emperor's outspoken wishes; and he loved her to the last. But apparently that love did not quite suffice, for she courted the sovereign prerogatives that were well out of her grasp, and constantly reached out for deference to which she had not been born and to which she could not be elevated.

And one can but wonder why she did not follow the course she took at the start, when as the beautiful bride of the Archduke she devoted herself to him and his interests so devotedly that the protesting Emperor almost capitulated. She won his good will to such an extent that he bestowed upon her the title of Duchess of Hohenberg, and with the title went the privilege of being addressed as "Highness." And perhaps it was that that turned her head and made her unwilling to remain in the shadows, just the much-loved wife of an Archduke who some day might be Emperor but might never carry her along to the imperial heights, unless their united ambitions led them to break away from the pledge.

Quite likely the Emperor would have softened his heart still more and scattered his imperial favors, a step at a time, had she been less openly ambitious. But that was not her way, and she paid the price. Indeed, when she met her death, outriders were accompanying the royal car in splendor that, for her, was only borrowed.

Life's little show is all over, for her, but the tragic close of her career only emphasizes once again that it is a thorny way one travels when one attempts to push into any "set" or on to any throne where the world goes forth: Not welcome. And most of all it emphasizes the fact that the happiest folk in this striving world are the men and women who care least of all for the poor tinsel and show that somehow seem to constitute a large part of our high-up stations.

The Duchess of Hohenberg, with a husband who never once swerved in his loyalty, so it is said, with three beautiful children, and with life showing her its rosy side—why didn't she accept the things that were real and let the tinsel go by?

Well, we read that the wife of the Archduke Charles Francis, who now will have the status of her apparent to the throne, will not have to bid for popular favor or for a place in the heart of the Emperor, for those honors already are hers. Indeed, it was she who, filling the role of first lady at court, brought many a foolish ache to the heart of the ill-fated Duchess, who resented the ruling that made her play a subordinate part to her husband's young niece.

And to those of us who feel inclined to smile at the show, until the tragic element begins, doesn't it all savor a bit of the ridiculous, too? And don't we know, deep down in our hearts, that as things run in the world, the men and women who count the most are found in the humbler stations, where that kind of heart-breaking strife is unknown.

A Future John D.

Apropos of compulsory school attendance, Superintendent Maxwell said in New York:

"A certain Yakubicka, a Bohemian urchin, rose suddenly the other afternoon in the midst of the lesson, piled his books in an orderly heap and proceeded to clump out of the room."

"Yakubicka, where are you going?" the astonished teacher asked. "Teacher," Yakubicka answered, "I'm off to school."

"From the doorway he waved his hand at his fellow students."

"So long fellows," he said. "I'm off to learn pants making."—New York World.

The Dust.

A Chicagoan was praising Mrs. Potter Palmer's ready wit.

"I once told her," he said, "of a cruel, a pitilessly cruel snub that had been administered to a social climber."

"But Mrs. Potter Palmer was quite unmoved. She merely smiled and said:

"Well, you know, in the race for promotion, must the dust be dust."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Got the Wrong Flag.

Tommy was short and fat and freckled. Tommy knew all about United States history, for he went to school at the Webster and received "excellent" on his report in that study. If there was anything except dirt, that Tommy was thoroughly grounded in, it was revolutionary history, and he hated the English like a tramp does a cake of soap.

One day his mother took him to a moving-picture theatre. In front of the theatre were big, glaring posters showing Washington as an Adonis and Cornwallis with a face that would send any man to jail. So Tommy begged until mamma scolded a dime and took him in. Presently the piano struck up a march and on the screen paraded the revolutionary troops, their flags flying bravely in the wind. But instead of being pleased, Tommy rose from his seat in disgust and his mother followed him to the street.

"Why, what's the trouble, Tommy?" she asked. "Didn't you enjoy the show?"

"Enjoy nuthin'," groaned the young historian. "Why those fellows are fierce. They was walking around with a flag having forty-seven stars and the flag in those days didn't have but thirteen."—Washington Post.

The City Child.

My small Suzanne, who has recently begun to study geography, came to dinner from her home work the other evening with a puzzled look. "Daddy," she said, "I don't exactly understand about the Rocky Mountains—what they divide, I mean. Will you explain it to me, please?" At the end of a rather detailed explanation she exclaimed joyfully: "Oh, now I understand. Thank you, daddy. You know I always supposed before that Fifth avenue divided the east from the west."—Harper's Magazine.

Practical Fruit Growing and Canning Investment

A close corporation of New York business men whose character and standing will be appreciated on acquaintance, have successfully established a 200 ACRE FRUIT FARM AND CANNING PLANT near Saugerties—selling products DIRECT TO CONSUMERS AND RETAIL STORES in New York City.

The canning plant was put into operation last year and met with prompt success. THIS SEASON'S OUTPUT HAS ALREADY BEEN SOLD IN ADVANCE and there is every indication that the business will grow to large proportions. It is therefore deemed advisable to purchase and plant an adjoining farm and to increase the size of the plant, and to this end the capital has been increased $20,000. A portion of this increase has been subscribed by the present members. For business reasons it is desired to have a number of local people of standing interested in the company and the balance is therefore offered to Ulster County growers and business men at the original price or investment cost per acre, the same as paid by present members, including officers and directors, when the project was started two years ago.

The fruit farm and canning plant are owned and operated as a whole, ownership being represented by shares of stock apportioned in blocks equivalent to 5, 10 and 20 acre interests.

Cost of each 5-acre interest, including planting and care, also pro rata interest in the canning plant, $1,280, payable one-third cash, balance quarterly or semi-annually covering a period of two years.

The investment in no way resembles what is ordinarily known as an orchard-planted-and-cared-for proposition. We are fruit and vegetable growers, shippers and canners—not promoters. The Company has no land for sale.

Over 12,000 apple and pear trees were planted two years ago and are now under scientific horticultural care. 10 acres of currants and 3 acres of strawberries are interplanted between the rows of young trees, and about 70 acres of tomatoes and sweet corn have been put out this year to fill contracts for canned goods.

When the main orchard comes into bearing our fruit will be marketed, attractively packed, direct to retail dealers and large consumers, THROUGH OUR OWN AGENT IN NEW YORK, independent of commission men. In the meantime the Canning Plant will pay better than ordinary interest on the entire investment. THIS YEAR NET EARNINGS SHOULD EXCEED 12% AND SHOULD INCREASE SUBSTANTIALLY EACH YEAR.

AUSTRIANS DEMAND WAR ON SERBIA

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Vienna, June 30.—Tense feeling prevails here over the assassination of Archduke Francis Ferdinand and his wife by a Slav in Sarajevo and radical members of the military party are calling for a punitive war against Serbia.

Despite the fact that the Serbian court has gone into mourning and that the Austrian government has been officially notified from Belgrade that dire punishment will be inflicted upon any person implicated in the plot, the anti-Serbian hostility grew in force today.

The domestic political situation threatens to become acute if certain powerful leaders adhere to their determination to put forward little Prince Maximilian, the 11 year old son of the slain archduke, as heir to the throne. The natural heir is Archduke Charles Francis Joseph.

Those who are promoting the movement to make Prince Maximilian the legal heir, believe that they are strong enough to combat successfully the aged Emperor, Francis Joseph. But Francis Joseph has weathered many a political storm and his supporters believe that he will be able to overcome any opposition to his plans in this instance.

A dispatch from Sarajevo stated that the bodies of the slain archduke and his wife were shipped to Metkovich in Dalmatia. There they will be transferred to the Austrian dreadnaught, Viribus Unitis, and taken to Trieste. At Trieste, the corpses will be taken on board a special funeral train and will be brought to this city. From 8 o'clock Friday morning until noon on that day the bodies will lie in state in the chapel of the Hofburg. Interment will take place at midnight on Friday night at Arstetten in lower Austria.

Emperor Francis Joseph will not attend the services, but will be represented by Archduke Charles Francis Joseph.

Dispatches from Sarajevo said that reverent crowds lined the streets when the bodies were carried to the railway station. Both men and women showed traces of deep grief.

Crowds of students and others paraded the streets of Vienna today bearing flags.

The church bells were tolled during the morning and special services were conducted in the chapel of the Palace.

School No. 7 at the Head.

A remarkable fact has been brought to light by an interested member of the recent graduating class of K. A. 1914, and a former graduate of School No. 7, in which it is shown that this year School No. 7 carried off by far the majority of K. A. graduating honors. To begin with, one-third of the entire graduating class was made up of No. 7 students. Five of the eight commencement speakers, Miss E. Goddard, Miss Gladys L. Pennington, Walter Schmidt, Miss D. Eileen Keefe and Miss Ruth Overbaugh, come from the Crown street school. From the same school came all the pupils who won special honors, Miss Pennington, Walter Schmidt, Miss Alice Kinkade, Miss Bertha Waterman, Miss Ruth Overbaugh and Ross Goddard. The first prizes for oratory and elocution went to Ross Goddard and Ruth Overbaugh while both the Miss Nellie A. Wood English and the Prof. E. L. Resser, Modern Language prizes were won by No. 7 students, Miss Pennington and Walter Schmidt. The following pupils who graduated with honor: Ross Goddard, Miss Emma Jensen, Miss Eileen Keefe, Miss Alice Kinkade, Miss Ethel Overbaugh, Miss Ruth Overbaugh, Miss Gladys Pennington, Walter Schmidt, Monroe Schleisinger, Miss Evelyn Thomas, Miss Helen Thomas and Miss Bertha Waterman, attended No. 7, and the following five from the same school graduated with honorable mention: Gaynell Carnwright, Miss Margaret Forbes, Alexander Gibson, Herbert Hughes and Miss Ethel Pultz. Finally four of the class day speakers, from the class of 1914 and the members of 1915 were all No. 7 pupils, being Ross Goddard, Herbert Hughes, Miss Helen Thomas, Miss Evelyn Thomas and Anderson Carl.

Fell From Cherry Tree.

William Curry, sexton of the Trinity M. E. Church, is confined to his home on Highland avenue as a result of injuries received in a fall from a cherry tree on Monday. Mr. Curry was busy picking cherries at the time from the cherry tree in his yard when he lost his balance and fell heavily to the ground. Neighbors who saw him fall rushed to his aid and found him unconscious. He was picked up and carried in his house and Dr. George Van Gaasbeek summoned. As far as known no bones were broken but he was badly shaken up by the fall.

Satisfactory Demonstration.

The first shipment of the Ferro detachable row boat motors was received by the Canfield Supply Co. last week and on Saturday they gave a very satisfactory demonstration in the Rondout creek, and in spite of the weather large crowds of enthusiastic boatmen pronounced the experiment very satisfactory.

Recital This Evening.

Arm Broken by Automobile Crank.

Mrs. S. L. Torrey, the Broadway furniture dealer, had both bones of her right forearm broken on Monday afternoon while cranking her automobile when the engine backfired. Dr. Mark O'Meara dressed the injury and while suffering pain, Mrs. Torrey was able to be out and attend to business.

BOY STRUCK BY AN AUTOMOBILE

Ran in Front of the Machine From Behind a Trolley Car—Chaufeur's Efforts to Avoid Striking Him Were in Vain.

Harry Yungerman, 10 years old, lies in the Benedictine Sanitarium in a critical condition from injuries received on Monday evening when hit by an automobile driven by Raymond Addis. The accident occurred about 9 o'clock that evening. A few minutes before the boy was struck he was standing with his father, Benjamin Yungerman, in front of the shoe store of Max Greenwald, and asked his father for some money to buy some candy. His father handed him some coins and the boy started to go to a store and get the candy. Instead of crossing at the street corner in front of the Mansion House the boy cut across the street and as he ran out from behind the trolley car he was struck by the automobile which had just turned into Broadway from the Strand. Addis, who was driving the car, saw the boy as he ran in front of the machine and throwing on the brakes he steered the car into the gutter to avoid hitting the boy. The machine struck the gutter and the boy at the same instant. Bystanders picked the lad up and carried him to the office of Dr. Frank L. Eastman, 6 Broadway. The boy was bleeding freely from a wound in his forehead and the blood spurted in a stream on the sidewalk from where he was picked up to the office of the physician. Dr. Eastman after making a hasty examination found the boy to have received serious injuries and accompanied by Policeman Boyd rushed the lad to the Sanitarium, where he found it necessary to remove a small piece of the skull which was pressing on the brain. Dr. Eastman said this morning that the boy was suffering from a fractured skull and bruises and was in a critical condition. Addis, who was driving the car, was not arrested, as the accident was considered unavoidable. The machine is owned by Walter Buddenhagen of Mary's avenue, who has a taxicab stand in front of The Welner. The boy's parents reside at 79 Broadway.

OIL ALL THE STREETS.

Correspondent Cites the Railroad Avenue Case as an Argument.

To the Editor,

My Dear Sir: In fairness to our city officials, we wish to make a statement in regard to the oiling of Railroad avenue. It is quite true that those residing on said street, as well as the many strangers who visit our city daily were obliged to stand for the intolerable nuisance, (dust) for a long period, last season the said street not being oiled at all simply because of a very peculiar and most entangling situation, over which the property owners have little or no control. The city ordinance calls for a majority of feet, but as the N. Y. C. & R. R. Co. positively refused to sign the oiling proposition went by default, no interest being taken, until the property owners got busy and petitioned the city directors, requesting their support. We got it and now we wish to thank his honor, the mayor, also Secretary Hoeft of the Chamber of Commerce, for bringing about such delightful results. Railroad avenue is now quite a different place. We are jubilant and can now traverse that thoroughfare in perfect safety and without having our eyes filled with dangerous gossamer. Of course this oiling process isn't good for the eye specialists. However, we hold no particular grudge against them and did not have the street oiled for such reasons, but would like to devise some sort of scheme compelling the New York Central to make good for their half. Why not let the committee on the charter revision make a few amendments? Oil every street and charge same in the general taxes. We hope that the many transients and some of our own citizens included, especially those who were extremely loud in their denunciation of our municipal affairs, will now understand that the "Gate Way" to our city is private property and that the street would have been oiled ere this, but could not be until certain obstacles had been removed and when this matter was finally adjusted, Mayor Canfield delivered the goods.

NEW CALKING MACHINE.

Water Board Buys One for Use in Calking Pipes.

The water board has ordered an air compressor with pneumatic tools to be used in calking the pipes of the new pipe line being laid from the intersection of Albany and Manor avenues towards the reservoirs. The new machine will cost between $700 and $800 and will calk pipe a great deal faster than the old method of calking by hand and in a more efficient manner. The work of laying this new twenty inch pipe line is being pushed forward as rapidly as possible and it has been laid for quite a distance on Manor avenue. The work is being done by a force of men under the direction of Superintendent Harrison. It has been found necessary to use sheathing in the excavating work.

Wreck Near Summitville.

Eight loaded coal cars went down the bank on the Ontario & Western railroad a short distance north of Summitville station on Saturday night. Both tracks were blocked and traffic delayed for some time. The accident was due to a broken truck.

William Curry, sexton of the Trinity M. E. Church, is confined to his home on Highland avenue as a result of injuries received in a fall from a cherry tree on Monday. Mr. Curry was busy picking cherries at the time when he lost his balance and fell heavily to the ground. Neighbors who saw him fall rushed to his aid and found him unconscious. He was picked up and carried in his house and Dr. George Van Gaasbeek summoned. As far as known no bones were broken but he was badly shaken up by the fall.

Arm Broken by Automobile Crank.

Ran in Front of the Machine From Behind a Trolley Car—Chauffeur's Efforts to Avoid Striking Him Were in Vain.

Harry Yungerman, 10 years old, lies in the Benedictine Sanitarium in a critical condition from injuries received on Monday evening when hit by an automobile driven by Raymond Addis. The accident occurred about 9 o'clock that evening. A few minutes before the boy was struck he was standing with his father, Benjamin Yungerman, in front of the shoe store of Max Greenwald, and asked his father for some money to buy some candy. His father handed him some coins and the boy started to go to a store and get the candy. Instead of crossing at the street corner in front of the Mansion House the boy cut across the street and as he ran out from behind the trolley car he was struck by the automobile which had just turned into Broadway from the Strand. Addis, who was driving the car, saw the boy as he ran in front of the machine and throwing on the brakes he steered the car into the gutter to avoid hitting the boy. The machine struck the gutter and the boy at the same instant. Bystanders picked the lad up and carried him to the office of Dr. Frank L. Eastman, 6 Broadway. The boy was bleeding freely from a wound in his forehead and the blood spurted in a stream on the sidewalk from where he was picked up to the office of the physician. Dr. Eastman after making a hasty examination found the boy to have received serious injuries and accompanied by Policeman Boyd rushed the lad to the Sanitarium, where he found it necessary to remove a small piece of the skull which was pressing on the brain. Dr. Eastman said this morning that the boy was suffering from a fractured skull and bruises and was in a critical condition. Addis, who was driving the car, was not arrested, as the accident was considered unavoidable. The machine is owned by Walter Buddenhagen of Mary's avenue, who has a taxicab stand in front of The Welner. The boy's parents reside at 79 Broadway.

OIL ALL THE STREETS.

Correspondent Cites the Railroad Avenue Case as an Argument.

To the Editor,

My Dear Sir: In fairness to our city officials, we wish to make a statement in regard to the oiling of Railroad avenue. It is quite true that those residing on said street, as well as the many strangers who visit our city daily were obliged to stand for the intolerable nuisance, (dust) for a long period, last season the said street not being oiled at all, simply because of a very peculiar and most entangling situation, over which the property owners have little or no control. The city ordinance calls for a majority of feet, but as the N. Y. C. R. R. Co., positively refused to sign, the oiling proposition went by default, no interest being taken, until the property owners got busy and petitioned the city directors, requesting their support. We got it and now we wish to thank his honor, the mayor, also Secretary Hoehn of the Chamber of Commerce, for bringing about such delightful results. Railroad avenue is now quite a different place. We are jubilant and can now traverse that thoroughfare in perfect safety and without having our eyes filled with dangerous germs. Of course this oiling process isn't good for the eye specialists. However, we hold no particular grudge against them and did not have the street oiled for such reasons, but would like to devise some sort of scheme compelling the New York Central to make good for their half. Why not let the committee on the charter revision make a few amendments? Oil every street and charge same in the general taxes. We hope that the many transients and some of our own citizens included, especially those who were extremely loud in their denunciation of our municipal affairs, will now understand that the "Gate Way" to our city is private property and that the street would have been oiled ere this, but could not be until certain obstacles had been removed and when this matter was finally adjusted, Mayor Canfield delivered the goods.

NEW CALKING MACHINE.

Water Board Buys One for Use in Calking Pipes.

The water board has ordered an air compressor with pneumatic tools to be used in calking the pipes of the new pipe line being laid from the intersection of Albany and Manor avenues towards the reservoirs. The new machine will cost between $700 and $800 and will calk pipe a great deal faster than the old method of calking by hand and in a more efficient manner. The work of laying this new twenty inch pipe line is being pushed forward as rapidly as possible and it has been laid for quite a distance on Manor avenue. The work is being done by a force of men under the direction of Superintendent Harrison. It has been found necessary to use sheathing in the excavating work.

Wreck Near Summitville.

LOCAL ORCHARDS THREATENED BY FIRE BLIGHT

Apples and Pears Affected by a Blight That Can be Controlled by Use of Proper Measures—Farm Bureau Manager Tells How to Fight it.

In the greater part of Ulster county there is general evidence of a serious infestation of fire blight. This disease not only attacks Clapp's Favorite but also the Bartlett, Stickle, Kiefer and the other pears so that the whole pear industry of Ulster county is threatened by this disease. In an effort to control the disease whole pear orchards have been dug up and burned while other orchards have had to be so dehorned and barbarously pruned as to make them practically worthless for a number of years. Many of our growers have stopped setting out pears entirely, or others if they were fond of growing pears have moved to other less infected counties. But fire blight does not stop with the pear. The same disease attacks the apple of all ages. In old trees up to the present time it has attacked the blossoms and small apples thus lessening the crop for this year and its has attacked and will continue to attack the ends of the branches thus lowering the vitality of the tree and consequently lessening the crop that might be produced next year. In the young apple trees, from one to eight years old, it works almost as destructively as in pears. It may injure them so badly that the tree dies and new trees must be set in their place. Consequently in Ulster county at the present time every young orchard is in danger and the fruit grower runs a great risk in setting out a young orchard or is confronted with losses in his orchard of ten years and older from the dreaded fire blight.

Now Ulster county is well adapted to the growing of fruit and this industry would be greatly handicapped if the apple and pears should be removed from the fruit industry. But there is no reason why the apple and pear should be removed from the fruit industry nor no reason why the fruit growers in Ulster county should be continually terrorized year after year by this disease. It has been and can be almost entirely removed. But no satisfactory control will be secured unless every man, woman and child in Ulster county recognizes the awful destruction of this disease and unless each and every one of us use an intelligent organized effort to win it out.

Different from most control measures with plant diseases or insect pests this disease has but one set of control measures to follow and these measures must be followed to the letter. First, the diseased limbs or twigs must be cut low enough so as to reach the bark which is not at all diseased. Second, that the tree must be disinfected at the place where the branches were cut off with a 1-1000 corrosive sublimate solution swabbed on with a rag or sponge. This solution is a deadly poison if taken into the human mouth so must be kept out of reach of children and away from foods and drinking water. The solution is made by dissolving one tablet of corrosive sublimate in a quart of water. Tablets may be purchased at almost any drug store. Third, the diseased branches cut off must not lie on the ground but must be burned as soon as possible. Fourth, that wild trees or old trees which are not worth treating must be cut out and burned.

Every person should do all in his power to help eradicate this disease. First, by removing the disease from your own premises particularly in all pears and in young apple trees. Second, by using your influence to persuade your neighbor to wipe out the disease from his premises. Third, by using your influence upon others to secure the same results. During the next few months a general campaign will be made to wipe out this terrible disease. It will be successful just in so far as each person does his part so far as others follow the example set.

The manager of the Farm Bureau will be pleased to respond to a request in case a grower does not know what fire blight is or in case the grower is not sure of how to perform the operations necessary to control it.

Circular No. 20 entitled, "The Fire Blight and its Control" may be had by applying to the Manager of the Farm Bureau, W. H. Hook, Kingston, N. Y. or it may be secured from the Mailing Dept. of the College of Agriculture, Ithaca, N. Y.

LOCAL ORCHARDS THREATENED BY FIRE BLIGHT

Apples and Pears Affected by a Blight That Can be Controlled by Use of Proper Measures—Farm Bureau Manager Tells How to Fight It.

In the greater part of Ulster county there is general evidence of a serious infestation of fire blight. This disease not only attacks Clapp's Favorite but also the Bartlett, Stickle, Kiefer and the other pears so that the whole pear industry of Ulster county is threatened by this disease. In an effort to control the disease whole pear orchards have been dug up and burned while other orchards have had to be so deborned and barbarously pruned as to make them practically worthless for a number of years. Many of our growers have stopped setting out pears entirely, or others if they were fond of growing pears have moved to other less infected counties.

But fire blight does not stop with the pear. The same disease attacks the apple of all ages. In old trees up to the present time it has attacked the blossoms and small apples thus lessening the crop for this year and its has attacked and will continue to attack the ends of the branches thus lowering the vitality of the tree and consequently lessening the crop that might be produced next year. In the young apple trees, from one to eight years old, it works almost as destructively as in pears. It may injure them so badly that the tree dies and new trees must be set in their place. Consequently in Ulster county at the present time every young orchard is in danger and the fruit grower runs a great risk in setting out a young orchard or is confronted with losses in his orchard of ten years and older from the dreaded fire blight.

Now Ulster county is well adapted to the growing of fruit and this industry would be greatly handicapped if the apple and pears should be removed from the fruit industry. But there is no reason why the apple and pear should be removed from the fruit industry nor is there any reason why the fruit growers in Ulster county should be continually terrorized by this year after year by this disease. It has been and can be almost entirely removed. But no satisfactory control will be secured unless every man, woman and child in Ulster county recognizes the awful destruction of this disease and unless each and every one of us use an intelligent organized effort to win it out.

Different from most control measures with plant diseases or insect pests this disease has but one set of control measures to follow and these measures must be followed to the letter. First, the diseased limbs or twigs must be cut low enough so as to reach the bark which is not at all diseased. Second, that the tree must be disinfected at the place where the branches were cut off with a 1-1000 corrosive sublimate solution swabbed on with a rag or sponge. This solution is a deadly poison if taken into the human mouth so must be kept out of reach of children and away from foods and drinking water. The solution is made by dissolving one tablet of corrosive sublimate in a quart of water. Tablets may be purchased at almost any drug store. Third, the diseased branches cut off must not lie on the ground but must be burned as soon as possible. Fourth, that wild trees or old trees which are not worth treating must be cut out and burned.

Every person should do all in his power to help eradicate this disease. First, by removing the disease from your own premises particularly in all pears and in young apple trees. Second, by using your influence to persuade your neighbor to wipe out the disease from his premises. Third, by using your influence upon others to secure the same results. During the next few months a general campaign will be made to wipe out this terrible disease. It will be successful just in so far as each person does his part so far as others follow the example set.

The manager of the Farm Bureau will be pleased to respond to a request in case a grower does not know what fire blight is or in case the grower is not sure of how to perform the operations necessary to control it.

Circular No. 20 entitled, "The Fire Blight and its Control" may be had by applying to the Manager of the Farm Bureau, W. H. Hook, Kingston, N. Y. or it may be secured from the Mailing Dept. of the College of Agriculture, Ithaca, N. Y.

SUFFRAGETTES CALL ON WILSON

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, June 30.—Forming a line a mile in length, hundreds of women, all clothed in white, marched from the public library to the White House today to try and get President Wilson's endorsement of an amendment to the constitution enfranchising women. The suffragettes also presented to President Wilson, who received them in the east room, a resolution adopted recently at the convention of the Federation of Women's Clubs in Chicago. Mrs. Harvey W. Wiley, wife of the eminent food expert, led the procession and introduced the speakers.

Today's demonstration was under the auspices of the district Federation of Women's Clubs, and the club women, many of whom are the wives of senators, representatives, in Congress and high government officials were anxious to know how the president would receive their plea following his previous declaration that the Baltimore platform prevents him from committing himself on the suffrage question.

The speakers at the White House were, Mrs. Wiley, Mrs. Rheta Childs Dorr, Miss Ellis Logan, Mrs. Joseph A. Whitney of Connecticut and Mrs. Frank Miles Day of Philadelphia.

Tonight Mrs. William Kent, wife of the representative from California will receive the suffragists at her home.

Kingston is Represented.

Delegates have been appointed from every state in the union. Arrangements are to be made by the conference for the organization of committees in Canada, Nova Scotia and New Foundland for the erection of international boundary monuments and for the organization of maritime pageants including a marine parade from Buffalo to Duluth, touching both American and Canadian ports.

Westinghouse Strikers Quiet.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Pittsburgh, June 30.—The appearance of state constabulary in the Westinghouse strike zone this forenoon failed to precipitate any lawlessness on the part of East Pittsburgh strikers. That there would be such lawlessness was freely predicted last night. The troopers were at their posts early today and Captain Adams saw that no armed guards of the company appeared to provoke the strikers. By Adams' order these guards are to remain indoors while the constabulary are on the job. The strikers' press committee today issued a statement deploring the arrival of the constabulary and pointing out that the good behavior of the strikers did not warrant their coming.

New Salem Celebrates.

The Scrap Book

Beecher's Reward.

In the early days of his ministry the even then eloquent Henry Ward Beecher went by request to a small New England village one Sunday morning to preach a sermon. The most available place for the services was a barn, and while the people gathered Mr. Beecher sat on a sawhorse. Presently a large Plymouth Rock hen walked over the barn floor in front of the great preacher. As Mr. Beecher remarked "What a beautiful creature!" the hen laid an egg in his hat that lay on the floor and strutted away cackling.

STRUTTED AWAY CACKLING.

It was but a few days later that by mail came a little verse from a well known wag, who the incident, that was a witness to read like this:

Said a great Congregational preacher
To a hen, "What a beautiful creature!"
In compensation for that
She laid an egg in his hat,
And thus did the Hen-Re-Ward Beecher.

Hope.

There is no grave on earth's broad chart
But has some bird to cheer it.
So hope sings on in every breast,
Although we may not hear it.
And if today the heavy wing
Of sorrow is oppressing
Perchance tomorrow's sun may bring
The weary heart a blessing.

Cold Comfort.

There is a certain hotel up in British Columbia that has a reputation for being reasonably cold. It is a frame structure, and the walls are thin and shaky. One morning during a blizzard two guests who had been there the night before came out of their rooms on opposite sides of the hall. The first man said:

"Whew! I'm nearly frozen! I never was so cold in my life. I slept with all my clothes on and everything else piled on me, but I'm frosted through!"

"Same here," said the other. "I was on the windward side of this hut. I put on my buffalo coat over my clothes, but I don't think I'll ever get warm."

They went down to the hotel office. There, huddled over the stove, was a stage driver who had lost his way and been out all night. His hair and whiskers were lumps of ice. His fur hat was frozen to his head. He shivered and shook with the cold, though he was practically sitting on the stove. He looked like a human icicle. The two guests looked at him for a minute. Then one of them asked:

"Which room did you have, partner?"

The Tactful Cop.

Charles Comiskey, who runs the White Sox ball club in Chicago, is widely acquainted in that big town and in his day has been lavish with passes to his ball park.

Last year he gave a season pass to a young man he had helped to an appointment on the Chicago police force. Soon after this Comiskey was pushing his automobile a bit beyond the speed limit up Michigan boulevard and was stopped by a policeman. The policeman opened the door of the car and saw Comiskey sitting inside.

"Hello, Bill!" said Comiskey. "How are you getting along since I got you your job on the force?"

The policeman coughed and stuttered. Finally he said:

"Look here, Charlie, you'll have to go slower with this car of yours or I'll have to give back my pass."—Saturday Evening Post.

Why Joe Jefferson Was Awakened.

Joe Jefferson once played a one night engagement as Rip Van Winkle in a small town. In the hotel at which he stopped was an Irish porter, who, from the serious interest he took in the house, might have been the proprietor. At 6 o'clock the next morning Mr. Jefferson was awakened by a violent thumping on his door. He had left no "call" order, but his sleep was spoiled, so he arose and soon appeared before the clerk, indignantly demanding to know why he had been called.

The Irishman was summoned. "Mike, there was no call for Mr. Jefferson," said the clerk. "Why did you disturb him?"

Taking the clerk by the coat, the Hibernian led him to one side and said in a whisper, "He was snoring like a horse, sor, and O'd heerd the b'ys say as how he were onct after shlaiping for twenty years, so O! sez to me-silf, 'Molke, it's a cooming on to him ag'in, and it's yer duty to git him right out o' yer house.'"

SUFFRAGETTES CALL ON WILSON

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, June 30.—Forming a line a mile in length, hundreds of women, all clothed in white, marched from the public library to the White House today to try and get President Wilson's endorsement of an amendment to the constitution enfranchising women. The suffragists also presented to President Wilson, who received them in the east room, a resolution adopted recently at the convention of the Federation of Women's Clubs in Chicago. Mrs. Harvey W. Wiley, wife of the eminent food expert, led the procession and introduced the speakers.

Today's demonstration was under the auspices of the district Federation of Women's Clubs, and the club women, many of whom are the wives of senators, representatives, in Congress and high government officials were anxious to know how the president would receive their plea following his previous declaration that the Baltimore platform prevents him from committing himself on the suffrage question.

The speakers at the White House were, Mrs. Wiley, Mrs. Rheta Childs, Miss Ellis Logan, Mrs. Joseph A. Whitney of Connecticut and Mrs. Frank Miles Day of Philadelphia.

Tonight Mrs. William Kent, wife of the representative from California will receive the suffragists at her home.

Delegates have been appointed from every state in the union. Arrangements are to be made by the conference for the organization of committees in Canada, Nova Scotia and Newfoundland for the erection of international boundary monuments and for the organization of maritime pageants including a marine parade from Buffalo to Duluth, touching both American and Canadian ports.

Westinghouse Strikers Quiet.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Pittsburgh, June 30.—The appearance of state constabulary in the Westinghouse strike zone this forenoon failed to precipitate any lawlessness on the part of East Pittsburgh strikers. That there would be such lawlessness was freely predicted last night. The troops were at their posts early today and Captain Adams saw that no armed guards of the company appeared to provoke the strikers. By Adams' order these guards are to remain indoors while the constabulary are on the job. The strikers' press committee today issued a statement deploring the arrival of the constabulary and pointing out that the good behavior of the strikers did not warrant their coming.

New Salem Celebrates.

Andrew Lane of New Salem and Miss Rose Quirk of Port Jervis, who were recently married, were tendered a skimmington at their home at New Salem on Monday evening by a number of their friends. Fireworks, guns and cannon were among the noise producing articles used by the serenaders and while the skimmington was at its height Mr. and Mrs. Lane appeared and invited the merry crowd within, where fine refreshments were served and a very enjoyable evening was spent, music being furnished by Moran's orchestra.

Passengers From Wrecked Ship.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Glasgow, June 30.—With 69 passengers of the wrecked Anchor liner California on board, the Donaldson liner Cassandra arrived here today. The rescued persons spoke in the highest praise of the crew of the California and of the vessels which made up the rescue fleet. All the passengers on the Cassandra were well, but one man was injured during the transfer and is in the hospital at Londonderry.

Emotions Disturb Digestion.

Worry and distress, rage and excitement, fear and anger cause the muscles of the stomach and the rest of the alimentary channel to stop action. These emotions also stop the juices of digestion from flowing.

The Scrap Book

Beecher's Reward.

In the early days of his ministry the even then eloquent Henry Ward Beecher went by request to a small New England village one Sunday morning to preach a sermon. The most available place for the services was a barn, and while the people gathered Mr. Beecher sat on a sawhorse. Presently a large Plymouth Rock hen walked over the barn floor in front of the great preacher. As Mr. Beecher remarked "What a beautiful creature!" the hen laid an egg in his hat that lay on the floor and strutted away cackling.

It was but a few days later that by mail came a little verse from a well known wag, who the incident, that was a witness to read like this:

Said a great Congregational preacher
To a hen, "What a beautiful creature!"
In compensation for that
She laid an egg in his hat,
And thus did the Hen-Re-Ward Beecher.

Hope.

There is no grave on earth's broad chart
But has some bird to cheer it.
So hope sings on in every breast,
Although we may not hear it.
And if today the heavy wing
Of sorrow is oppressing
Perchance tomorrow's sun may bring
The weary heart a blessing.

Cold Comfort.

There is a certain hotel up in British Columbia that has a reputation for being reasonably cold. It is a frame structure, and the walls are thin and shaky. One morning during a blizzard two guests who had been there the night before came out of their rooms on opposite sides of the hall. The first man said:

"Where! I'm nearly frozen! I never was so cold in my life. I slept with all my clothes on and everything else piled on me, but I'm frosted through!"

"Same here," said the other. "I was on the windward side of this hut. I put on my buffalo coat over my clothes, but I don't think I'll ever get warm."

They went down to the hotel office. There, huddled over the stove, was a stage driver who had lost his way and been out all night. His hair and whiskers were lumps of ice. His fur hat was frozen to his head. He shivered and shook with the cold, though he was practically sitting on the stove. He looked like a human icicle. The two guests looked at him for a minute. Then one of them asked:

"Which room did you have, partner?"

The Tactful Cop.

Charles Comiskey, who runs the White Sox ball club in Chicago, is widely acquainted in that big town and in his day has been lavish with passes to his ball park.

Last year he gave a season pass to a young man he had helped to an appointment on the Chicago police force. Soon after this Comiskey was pushing his automobile a bit beyond the speed limit up Michigan boulevard and was stopped by a policeman. The policeman opened the door of the car and saw Comiskey sitting inside.

"Hello, Bill!" said Comiskey. "How are you getting along since I got you your job on the force?"

The policeman coughed and stuttered. Finally he said:

"Look here, Charlie, you'll have to go slower with this car of yours or I'll have to give back my pass."—Saturday Evening Post.

Why Joe Jefferson Was Awakened.

Joe Jefferson once played a one night engagement as Rip Van Winkle in a small town. In the hotel at which he stopped was an Irish porter, who, from the serious interest he took in the house, might have been the proprietor. At 6 o'clock the next morning Mr. Jefferson was awakened by a violent thumping on his door. He had left no "call" order, but his sleep was spoiled, so he arose and soon appeared before the clerk, indignantly demanding to know why he had been called.

The Irishman was summoned. "Mike, there was no call for Mr. Jefferson," said the clerk. "Why did you disturb him?"

Taking the clerk by the coat, the Irishman led him to one side and said in a whisper, "He was snoring like a horse, sor, and O'd heerd the b'ys say as how he were onct after shapping for twenty years, so O! sez to me-silf, 'Molke, it's a coming on to him ag'in, and it's yer duty to git him right out o' yer house.'"

Evil in Chewing Starch.

The habit of chewing starch is said to be the rate of 2,500,000 a year. It is said to be gaining ground among girls, especially in laundries. A doctor declares its effects are as injurious as those of morphine or cocaine.

KICKED BY A HORSE.

Saugerties Man Probably Fatally Injured and in Troy Hospital.

Charles H. Derby, of 195 Ninth street, Troy, was kicked in the head by a horse Monday afternoon and at the Samaritan Hospital it was found he suffered a multiple fracture of the skull and physicians at that institution say that there is no chance for him to recover. Derby was employed by James Deland, a Troy contractor, who is remodeling a building in King street. He had been driving two teams of horses which were drawing a large girder and when he unharnessed the first team one of the horses of the second team let fly with his hoofs, landing on Derby's head and knocking him more than fifteen feet into the street. Mr. Derby is a resident of Saugerties and well known throughout the Hudson valley.

THOSE FREE MOVIES.

Correspondent Tells Who and What is Behind Them.

Kingston, N. Y., June 30, 1914. Editor of The Freeman.

Dear Sir: I read with considerable interest an article in the issue of last evening entitled "Free Movies." In part it states that a series of pictures are to be exhibited under the joint auspices of the International Bible Students Association and the Chamber of Commerce, which I assume means the local body of business men bearing that title.

Perhaps I have been under the impression that the mission and work of the Chamber of Commerce was purely commercial and was not an auxiliary to any religious sect or church. However, if the above mentioned article is true, I am forced to change my opinion as it is common knowledge that the International Bible Students Association is a society formed for the promulgating of literature, etc. which deals with Russellism or the so called Millennium Saints' cult.

These works have been characterized as heresy by many leading denominations who investigated as to their merits and as a result consigned it to the scrapheap of fanaticism as being but another cleverly devised weapon of destruction that is wielded by the devil.

Russellism creates a feverish growth on the collective body of all organized churches of modern faith, and so I fail to see why unless they are unobserving or woefully ignorant, the Chamber of Commerce should endorse or co-operate with any such movement, which is so divergent with all other creeds as to be obnoxious and injurious.

Surely a statement from them would throw a bit of light on the subject of whether our Chamber of Commerce is to be sort of "colossal society" for all cults and churches or a really live aggressive power for commercial and industrial prosperity for this community.

Yours etc.

The Trained Voice.

Lawyers, clergymen and doctors all fail to secure the influence with the people with whom they come in contact because of inability to express their thoughts in an impressive way. Had the voice been trained the same as the eye and the intellect, had the exterior qualities been trained to express like the voice the best and the clearest facts, they would all have been successes. The melodious voice of Henry Clay always charmed his audience everywhere. Wherever he went people flocked to hear him, while the heavy bass tones of Daniel Webster failed to attract and actually drove people away. They preferred to read what he had to say, but wanted personally to hear Clay's pleasing voice.—Medical Record.

Fuller's Great Memory.

Thomas Fuller, the author of "The Worthies of England," possessed the useful accomplishment for a clergyman of being able to repeat a sermon verbatim after hearing it only once. Fuller once succeeded in naming backward and forward and without a single omission every shop sign on both sides of the way from Temple Bar to the eastern extremity of Cheapside. This appears a remarkable feat when it is remembered that Fuller lived before the practice of numbering houses was adopted, so that every shop he passed bore a sign.—London Chronicle.

Personality

Personality is as much a success building factor with merchandise as it is with men.

Advertising an article or a business give it a personality.

Or rather it makes its personality known to the public—for after all advertising is only a mirror held up to the merchandise.

A trade-mark becomes valuable only as it is made to individualize the thing for which it stands.

People are attracted to advertised goods just as they are drawn towards a magnetic man or woman.

Well directed advertising in the daily newspaper is the greatest builder of business confidence ever known.

These works have been characterized as hereby by many leading denominations who investigated as to their merits and as a result consigned it to the scrapheap of fanaticism as being but another cleverly devised weapon of destruction that is wielded by the devil.

Russellism creates a feverish growth on the collective body of all organized churches of modern faith, and so I fail to see why unless they are unobscuring or woefully ignorant, the Chamber of Commerce should endorse or co-operate with any such movement, which is so divergent with all other creeds as to be obnoxious and injurious.

Surely a statement from them would throw a bit of light on the subject of whether our Chamber of Commerce is to be sort of "cosmopolitan aid society" for all cults and churches or a really live aggressive power for commercial and industrial prosperity for this community.

Yours etc.

O. I. WUNDERMUCH.

DR. MAYO SAYS MUCH SURGERY IS NEEDLESS.

(Dr. Charles H. Mayo.)

Atlantic City, June 29.—Dr. Charles H. Mayo, the famous surgeon of Rochester, Minn., addressing the American Medical Association, declares that too many operations are performed without justifiable cause. He asserted there was no excuse whatever for so many operations, and that if physicians would study embryology more carefully they would be able to cure many cases without the use of the knife.

The Trained Voice.

Lawyers, clergymen and doctors all fall to secure the influence with the people with whom they come in contact because of inability to express their thoughts in an impressive way. Had the voice been trained the same as the eye and the intellect, had the exterior qualities been trained to express like the voice the best and the clearest facts, they would all have been successes. The melodious voice of Henry Clay always charmed his audience everywhere. Wherever he went people flocked to hear him, while the heavy bass tones of Daniel Webster failed to attract and actually drove people away. They preferred to read what he had to say, but wanted personally to hear Clay's pleasing voice.—Medical Record.

Fuller's Great Memory.

Thomas Fuller, the author of "The Worthies of England," possessed the useful accomplishment for a clergyman of being able to repeat a sermon verbatim after hearing it only once. Fuller once succeeded in naming backward and forward and without a single omission every shop sign on both sides of the way from Temple Bar to the eastern extremity of Cheapside. This appears a remarkable feat when it is remembered that Fuller lived before the practice of numbering houses was adopted, so that every shop he passed bore a sign.—London Chronicle.

What is 905

Personality

Personality is as much a success building factor with merchandise as it is with men. Advertising an article or a business give it a personality. Or rather it makes its personality known to the public—for after all advertising is only a mirror held up to the merchandise. A trade-mark becomes valuable only as it is made to individualize the thing for which it stands. People are attracted to advertised goods just as they are drawn towards a magnetic man or woman. Well directed advertising in the daily newspaper is the greatest builder of business confidence ever known.

SUFFRAGETTES TURNED DOWN

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, June 30.—President Wilson today again denied an appeal that he endorse the movement for woman suffrage through an amendment to the Federal constitution.

President Wilson refused to heed the pleadings of 1,000 women who called on him for support "In the name of one million club women" in their campaign for the passage of the resolution providing for an eighteenth amendment to the constitution creating woman suffrage throughout the nation.

The president in rejecting the plea said that he thought woman suffrage was a question which ought to be settled by the state and not by the national government.

"I am obliged to say very frankly to you that I am in agreement with those who framed the Baltimore platform when they left out all reference to woman suffrage," he said.

"When the Baltimore platform upheld that principle of the constitution which allots certain questions for the jurisdiction of the states and others for the federal government it takes the right course. I have always favored local self government. It is obvious to me from what you have said that there is no ground on your part for discouragement in the campaign you have been waging in the states. I think that is the right course to pursue."

The president further stated that a president had a dual duty. He was charged with administration of the law and was also a leader of the policy of his party as determined in advance by the party leaders.

When he finished his speech he was submitted to a hot interrogation by one of the club women who demanded whether they did not have a precedent for offering an amendment for woman's suffrage in the federal constitution.

"I have no right to criticize what you are doing," said the president. "I am only stating to you my opinion."

Finally the president tired of the questioning and said:

"I do not think it is quite proper that I should submit myself to further cross examination."

With that he left the east room of the White House accompanied by faint handclapping on the part of the suffragettes.

Some of the speakers were Mrs. Harvey W. Wiley and Mrs. Frank Miles Day of Philadelphia.

Police Raid Suffragettes.

Motor Driving in Germany.

It is an astonishing fact that a blind man may drive a motorcar in the United Kingdom. Any one who has a driving license, which can be obtained on the payment of 5 shillings without any test of qualification, is entitled to drive a car whether he is able to do so or not.

The German method is in strong contrast to that of England. If a German wishes to drive a motorcar he must first take out a one month's tuition license. This permits him to learn to drive. At the end of the month he is taken into the heart of a large city and, with an official by his side, is made to drive in and out of the traffic.

One little slip, a slight hesitation in slowing up, and back he is put for another month of tuition. There are many cases in which even three months' tuition is insisted on, and there are others in which licenses are refused altogether. The result of this is that the accident percentage in Berlin is only half that of London.—Manchester News.

Beginning Early.

With the following story Margaret's father supports his opinion that adroitness is congenital in women:

One Saturday Margaret, aged four, was in deep distress. Four times since 2 o'clock she had run away to visit Mrs. Gilbert, her favorite neighbor, and was now paying for her crimes by detention in the house.

At 5 her father returned and sat on the porch reading his evening paper. To him in a few minutes Margaret sauntered out, her mind intent on carrying out her plans, and shortly suggested:

"Daddy, let's play you are the baby, and I am the mother."

Daddy agreed on condition that it must be a very little baby and one that would not be expected to move.

Thereupon Margaret, after a silence in which one could hear her brain currents crackle, said, "Now, honey, you are a good little baby and don't run away, while mother for a little while goes over to Mrs. Gilbert's."—New York Tribune.

Our Oldest Religious Magazine.

Oldest of all religious magazines in America is the "Saviors' Magazine," published by the American Seamen's Friend Society, New York. Started in 1823, it has appeared without interruption ever since. Its monthly issue has been printed by the same family from father to son for seventy-five or eighty years. For sixty years its cover was unaltered. In this magazine appeared for the first time the world famous hymn, "Jesus, Saviour, Pilot Me." It was written by E. Hopper, then pastor of the little old Church of the Sea and Land, its edifice still standing, but almost unknown to this generation of New Yorkers. Colonel Roosevelt's first speech, made when he was a boy, is also recorded here. Romances are traceable through its pages—true stories of adventure, heroism and tragedy that make up the life of the sea.—New York Post.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, June 30.—The stock market opened weak today with prices ranging under last night's final. Among the railroads the biggest loss was sustained by Baltimore and Ohio, which declined 1 1/4 to 88 1/4.

United States Steel Common was the most active, declining 1/2. Pressure was directed against Amalgamated Copper and Canadian Pacific, the former losing 3/4 and the latter 1/2. Selling of these stocks was attributed to Paris and London. There was little demand for Reading, which sold down 1/2, while Union Pacific sustained the same amount of loss.

Lehigh Valley was offered freely and declined 1/2 within the first 20 minutes. At the lower level a slight demand developed and at the end of half an hour the list presented a better tone. American Smelting, Western Union, Norfolk and Western, St. Paul and New York Central were fractionally lower. The curb was heavy. Americans in London were nervous.

Noon.—The weakness shown in the early trading was of short duration, the tone abruptly changed, and for the rest of the forenoon a stronger tone prevailed. Southern Pacific moved up one point to 96. Union Pacific advanced 1/2. Steel Common recovered its early loss. Reading continued strong, selling at 162 1/4, an advance of 1/2. Other issues were slightly higher. Call money loaning at 1 1/2 per cent.

2:30 p. m.—The list gained in strength during the afternoon and in the last hour a number of issues were considerably above their earlier prices. Reading was one of the strongest, selling around 163 1/2.

Steel sold at 61 1/4 against bid around 61 1/2. Union Pacific showed a net gain of more than a point. Amalgamated Copper sold above a point higher than it closed last night. The tone was strong and the demand came from numerous quarters.

The New York market closed steady; governments unchanged; other bonds steady.

SUFFRAGETTES TURNED DOWN

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, June 30.—President Wilson today again denied an appeal that he endorse the movement for woman suffrage through an amendment to the Federal constitution.

President Wilson refused to heed the pleadings of 1,000 women who called on him for support "In the name of one million club women" in their campaign for the passage of the resolution providing for an eighteenth amendment to the constitution creating woman suffrage throughout the nation.

The president in rejecting the plea said that he thought woman suffrage was a question which ought to be settled by the state and not by the national government.

"I am obliged to say very frankly to you that I am in agreement with those who framed the Baltimore platform when they left out all reference to woman suffrage," he said.

"When the Baltimore platform upheld that principle of the constitution which allots certain questions for the jurisdiction of the states and others for the federal government it takes into account the fact that we have favored local self government. It is obvious to me from what you have said that there is no ground on your part for discouragement in the campaign you have been waging in the states. I think that is the right course to pursue."

The president further stated that a president had a dual duty. He was charged with administration of the law and was also a leader of the policy of his party as determined in advance by the party leaders.

When he finished his speech he was submitted to a hot interrogation by one of the club women who demanded whether they did not have a precedent for offering an amendment for woman's suffrage in the federal constitution.

"I have no right to criticize what you are doing," said the president. "I am only stating to you my opinion."

Finally the president tired of the questioning and said: "I do not think it is quite proper that I should submit myself to further cross-examination."

With that he left the east room of the White House accompanied by faint handclapping on the part of the suffragettes.

Some of the speakers were Mrs. Harvey W. Wiley and Mrs. Frank Miles Day of Philadelphia.

Motor Driving in Germany.

It is an astonishing fact that a blind man may drive a motorcar in the United Kingdom. Any one who has a driving license, which can be obtained on the payment of 5 shillings without any test of qualification, is entitled to drive a car whether he is able to do so or not.

The German method is in strong contrast to that of England. If a German wishes to drive a motorcar he must first take out a one month's tuition license, which permits him to learn to drive. At the end of the month he is taken into the heart of a large city and, with an official by his side, is made to drive in and out of the traffic.

One little slip, a slight hesitation in slowing up, and back he is put for another month of tuition. There are many cases in which even three months' tuition is insisted on, and there are others in which licenses are refused altogether. The result of this is that the accident percentage in Berlin is only half that of London.—Manchester News.

Beginning Early.

With the following story Margaret's father supports his opinion that adroitness is congenital in women:

One Saturday Margaret, aged four, was in deep disgrace. Four times since 2 o'clock she had run away to visit Mrs. Gilbert, her favorite neighbor, and was now paying for her crimes by detention in the house.

At 5 her father returned and sat on the porch reading his evening paper. To him in a few minutes Margaret sauntered out, her mind intent on carrying out her plans, and shortly suggested:

"Daddy, let's play you are the baby, and I am the mother."

Daddy agreed on condition that it must be a very little baby and one that would not be expected to move.

Thereupon Margaret, after a silence in which one could hear her brain currents crackle, said, "Now, honey, you be a good little baby and don't run away, while mother for a little while goes over to Mrs. Gilbert's."—New York Tribune.

Our Oldest Religious Magazine.
Oldest of all religious magazines in America is the "Savior's Magazine," published by the American Seamen's Society, New York. Started in 1828, it has appeared without interruption ever since. Its monthly issue has been printed by the same family from father to son for seventy-five or eighty years. For sixty years its cover was unaltered. In this magazine appeared for the first time the world famous hymn, "Jesus, Saviour, Pilot Me." It was written by E. Hopper, then pastor of the little old Church of the Sea and Land, its edifice still standing, but almost unknown to this generation of New Yorkers. Colonel Roosevelt's first speech, made when he was a boy, is also recorded here. Romances are traceable through its pages—true stories of adventure, heroism and tragedy that make up the life of the sea.—New York Post.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, June 30.—The stock market opened weak today with prices ranging under last night's final. Among the railroads the biggest loss was sustained by Baltimore & Ohio, which declined 1 1/4 to 88 1/4. United States Steel Common was the most active, declining 3/4. Pressure was directed against Amalgamated Copper and Canadian Pacific, the former losing 3/4 and the latter 3/8. Selling of these stocks was attributed to Paris and London. There was little demand for Reading, which sold down 3/4, while Union Pacific sustained the same amount of loss. Lehigh Valley was offered freely and declined 1/2 within the first 20 minutes. At the lower level a slight demand developed and at the end of half an hour the list presented a better tone.

American Smelting, Western Union, Norfolk and Western, St. Paul and New York Central were fractionally lower. The curb was heavy. Americans in London were narrow.

Noon.—The weakness shown in the early trading was of short duration, the tone abruptly changed, and for the rest of the forenoon a stronger tone prevailed. Southern Pacific moved up one point to 96. Union Pacific advanced 1/2. Steel Common recovered its early loss. Reading continued strong selling at 162 1/4, an advance of 3/4. Other issues were slightly higher. Call money, loaning at 1 1/2 per cent.

2:30 p. m.—The list gained in strength during the afternoon and in the last hour a number of issues were considerably above their earlier prices. Reading was one of the strongest selling around 163 1/4 against 161 1/4 at the opening this morning. Steel sold at 6 1/4 against 5 3/4 at the opening. Union Pacific held around 154, an advance of 1 1/4 from its opening. Lehigh Valley showed a net gain of more than a point. Amalgamated Copper sold above a point higher than it closed last night. The tone was strong and the demand came from numerous quarters.

The New York market closed steady; governments unchanged; other bonds steady.

WAGNER'S "PARSIFAL"

Its Cold Reception at First Moved Hans Sachs to Fury.

When Wagner's "Parsifal" was first performed in Bayreuth, the critic Hans Sachs was almost the only one of all the writing fraternity to welcome it as a great work of genius. To the ears of the others its rude realism sounded unmusical. They wanted melody like that Verdi was turning out in Italy, Bizet in Paris and a few minor composers in their own Berlin.

But Sachs was a man of broader mold. He heard the great music of "Parsifal" with unprejudiced ears and recognized the genius of the man. He shouted it abroad in his writings and became furious at a world that would not, perhaps could not, find pleasure in the dramatic voices of the orchestra.

His vivid emotionalism and marvelous appeal to the aesthetical nature that is in every man and woman. He knew that the Germans were merely refusing to listen, save for melody, and finally he told them that even in the melodic field Wagner was the greatest of them all.

Sachs has written eloquently of Wagner's melody, beside which the melody of the Italians is pallid, anemic, insignificant. Only now and then, he said, were the Italian melodists other than artificial. Wagner's melody was the spontaneous song of a musical heart. The "Good Friday Spell" was the most exquisite song of praise ever written by any man, no less a song because it was wordless, sung only by the violin and woodwinds.—Detroit Free Press.

SOCIETY NOTES.

The summer social of Court Santa Maria, Daughters of Isabella, will be held on Wednesday evening, July 1, at Kingston Point, and will be in the form of a private dancing party. Guests are expected from Poughkeepsie and Newburgh and admission will be by card only, signed by some member of the court. Dancing from 8 to 12 o'clock, music for this delightful occasion being furnished by Muller's orchestra.

A gay and joyous company of relatives and friends assembled at the residence of Joseph L. Powley, Poughkeepsie, Monday evening, and were delightfully entertained by the host and hostess in honor of their guest, Miss Lulu Bouton of Benton Harbor, Mich., coupled with that of the birthday anniversary of the host. The house was beautifully decorated; the broad porch with Japanese lanterns and colored lights, and the parlors, the one with branches and twigs of ripe cherries which when lit up made a beautiful picture, the other with honeysuckles and flowers of various description. Refreshments were served on the porch at about 9 o'clock, and afterward all adjourned into the parlors when music from the Victrola and dancing were indulged in and kept up for over two hours. Miss Esther Rodie rendered a beautiful piece upon the piano and also sang the "Lost Chord" most beautifully. The party then dispersed, wishing the guest much pleasure on the continuation of her trip east, and the host and hostess may more years of happy life together.

MENKE'S DAILY SPORTS REVIEW

(By Frank G. Menke.)

New York, June 30.—It seems about time that someone shoved this Achilles fellow off his pedestal and that everybody ceased making him the standard by which all American athletes are to be judged.

After looking over his record, we have concluded that he wasn't such a much after all. There's nothing in the Grecian baseball guides to show that he ever batted over .400, or that he ever pushed out a home run with the bases loaded in a world series combat. He never made a 90 yard touchdown run around Yale or Harvard's end with the score even and just two minutes left to play. Nor did he ever uncork a 25 foot putt in an open golfing championship, or club out a pole goal from midfield, bringing victory to the home team in the last half minute of the eighth chukker.

Of course, Achilles has some justifiable claim to fame. He was one of the very few Greeks in all history who never operated either a fruit store, a candy shop or a bootblackening parlor, nor did he ever act as engineer for a peanut roasting machine. He never was accused of selling "impor-tant" hand made shawls to the unsuspecting housewife at twenty-seven times the actual cost of their manufacture in some New York sweat shop.

Taking it from a number of encyclopedias and also from Mister Homer's Illiad, this Achilles bloke was considerable of a scrapper back in the old days. He had a terrible punch, a practically invulnerable defense, was fearless and merciless in battle, and held the heavyweight championship for a much longer time than did even John L. Sullivan.

But we can't see why these few stunts that he did—and didn't do—should give him first rank in the field of athletics. We can't see why it was that every time "Chuck" Brickley, of dear old Harvard, tore the opposition line to shreds most persons instead of remarking that "Brickley rammed and jammed as no other man did before," really said, "Brickley fought almost with the fury of an Achilles." When Devoreau Milburn single handed, outplayed three of the four English poloists in the last half of the last international combat, did he get credit for being the original holler in the polo business, Nay, nay. Somebody trotted out Achilles and made Milburn second to him.

Every so often Honus Wagner, the Pittsburgh team, forgets that a human being should show some sort of mercy, whereupon Honus busies himself in giving his nine opponents a terrific beating. He uses his mace with deadly effect on the offense and his huge paws with just as much effect on the defense. But historians don't rise up on such occasions and credit Honus with being the greatest bloke that ever cavorted on the green. They declare that "Wagner raged around the field, fighting almost like the Achilles of old."

Every darned time some of our fellows do something amazing and remarkable, they aren't given credit for having set the standard in their particular line, simply because a lot of people insist upon digging up this Achilles party who has been dead for quite a while, and trotting him out as the superior of them all.

Achilles came to his death by being shot in the heel. Think of it! The very same person that so many people think was huskier than Wagner, Milburn, Brickley and all our other Americans turned up his toes and provided a job for the embalmer just as soon as an arrow, or a spear, or whatever it was, connected with his heel. A fine hero—a fine sample of invulnerability to shove before us.

Milburn has busted nearly all the bones in his frame—yet he's still in our midst. Brickley has been fractured in many, many places—yet no undertaker ever grabbed him. Wagner has been spiked not only in one heel, but in both heels, in the calves, the knees, the hands, the arms and the ribs. But his name figures every day among those present.

The elder Mr. Weller seems to have had the proper dope on this alibi proposition, judging from recent sporting pages.

Ty Cobb and President Gilmore of the Federal League had a little chat in Buffalo yesterday but the Detroit bearcat denies that he is planning to jump. Mr. Cobb wants to annihilate all the German butchers in the Michigan city before he thinks of leaving that place.

If Ban Johnson and the other organized baseball moguls need any further evidence to sustain their contention that the backers of the Federal League are rascals they can point to the fact that the price of admission at the Brooklyn Federal League Park has been reduced.

Never was such a collection of bingles seen as were unbatted at the Polo Grounds in Gotham yesterday, 55 being made in the double header between the Giants and the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Money deposited in the Albany County Savings Bank, Albany, N. Y., on or before July 3 next, will draw interest from July 1, at the rate of 4 per cent per annum.—Advertisement.

Mr. Cobb is the gent who plays hob with butchers and bakers and such. He's there with the punch in the enemy's lunch.
But it usually gets him in dutch.

Things couldn't be any warmer in Austria if the flocks had a baseball war on their hands.

Umpire Ollie Chill is getting so popular on the American League circuit he will soon have to equip himself with a suit of armor.

Mike Donlin isn't much on baseball any more but he sure is some conversationalist. At the Polo Grounds in New York yesterday Michael began to mutter to himself and the first thing he knew was shunted to the club-house.

The Cubs have regained second place and the Pirates have climbed back into the first division.
